FREIGHT SMASH-UP.

Misunderstanding of Orders Causes a Wreck Near Oxford, O.

Two Trains Run Over and Several Train-men Injured—Loss $50,000.

A terrible wreck of two railway freight trains occurred about 7 o'clock Friday evening in a cut and curve on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Indianapolis railway, about two miles east of Oxford, O.

It was a collision of trains loaded with merchandise, both going at full speed, the result of misunderstanding of orders, or some other blunder of a like nature not yet officially ascertained.

The train from Hamilton had two locomotives, one in front and the other behind serving as a pusher. The two trains had about thirty-five cars well laden, and each had a full crew.

The collision made a big crash, threw the colliding locomotives and cars into the air, and the wreckage was scattered over a large area.

lons of water, which flooded the town stand-pipe broke loose at about 3 o'clock Friday morning and flooded the town.

Immense sheets of holed, rotten, rotten pieces of scaffolding, houses, barns, fences and all the debris of the surrounding neighborhood went flying and crashing in all directions.

The people of the town were awakened, and stood in frightened groups about the town watching the destruction of their homes and property.

The house of O. T. Rigdon was destroyed, and the water was so high that it was impossible to get out of the house. The water was so high that it was impossible to get out of the house.
